THE SENATE. The sudden death of Senator Wilson (Md.) in this city last night was feelingly alluded to in the chaplain's opening prayer, and after the journal was read and a message received from

A few minutes afterward Mr. Gorman entered the chamber and, after reaching his deak, he laid upon it a sheet of paper which he had in his hand, and on which were written a set of resolutions. He addressed the Senate in a low

Mr. Gorman then offered resolutions express ing the great sorrow with which the Senate stances beyond human control. It is confistances beyond human control. It is confidently believed, however, that by the exercise of due consideration on the part of advertising the appointment of a committee of nine Senators to take order for superintending his Representatives with an invitation to attend the funeral tomorrow and to appoint a committee to act with a committee of the Senate.

Mr. Spooner's TRIBUTE.

Mr. Spooner paid his tribute to the dead Senator. He did so now, he said, because when the Senate (in obedience to its custom) would be senate (in obedience to its custom) would ask the House to consider appropriation bills. Friday night will be given up to the private calendar, thus leaving saturday night as the only chance for the District. Friday nigh the Senate (in obedience to its custom) would hereafter suspend business in order to allow eulogies to be delivered he (Mr. Spooner) would not be a member of the body. Senator Wilson and himself had entered the Senate on the same day, and had become members of the committee on claims on the same day, so that their association with each other, personal and official, had been intimate. Some years ago he had been admitted to Mr. Wilson's confidence and had been honored by his personal friendship. Mr. Wilson's death came to him, therefore, as a personal loss.

Mr. Wilson's death came to him, therefore, as a personal loss.

He spoke of the dead Senator as a man peculiarly modest and unobtrusiva and yet having that spirit and independence that are essential to manliness. He had not taken that active part in the proceedings of the Senate that other Senators had done, but that was attributable partly to these characteristics and partly to the fact that for years the specter of death had been the companion of every waking hour and the unbidden guest at every feast. But he was able, when duty ordered and when health permitted, to cope successfully in debate with any antagonist on any subject. With a naturally strong mind study and reflexion had given to him mental powers which comparatively few Senators appreciated. He was capable of easy and accurate generalization and had remarkable powers of analysis. He had great legal learning and his temperament was judicial. He (Mr. Spooner) had never known a man from whom harshness or injustice was less to be expected than from The President has signed the commission of marked by legal ability and literary taste and had attracted the admiration and approval of all his colleagues on that committee. He was a gentleman of the old school, and his courtesy to all with whom he came in contact(of high and low degree) was unfailing and beautiful. His aspirations were all elevated, and he was, in his public and private life, a Christian gentleman. It could not be said that Mr. Wilson died untimely, for death could not come untimely to him who was fit to die, and their friend from Maryland was fit to die.

The resolutions were agreed to unanimously, and Messrs. Gorman, Gray, Jones (Ark.), Pasco, Faulkner, Spooner, Wilson (lowa), Mitchell and Dixon were appointed the committee on the part of the Senate.

The Senate then, as a further mark of respect, adjourned till tomorrow at 11 a.m.

gram has been received at the Navy Department announcing the arrival of the U.S.S. Pensacola at Talcahuano, Chili, on the 20th. She sailed from Montevideo about twenty days ago. The Baltimore will probably reach Chilian waters in a couple of weeks from the European station. It has been decided to send the new cruiser San Francisco to Chili as soon as she can be made ready, and there will thus be a fleet of three vessels at the scene of troubles by the 1st of April. It is expected that the Charleston will reach San Francisco from Honolulu in a week and she will be fitted out with her sixinch guns, which are now at the Mare Island navy yard. Mr. McKinley (Ohio), from the committee on rules, reported a resolution providing that tomorrow the House shall meet at 10 o'clock THE NINTH CAVALRY TO BE RECOGNIZED.—The inth cavalry is to receive formal recognition to close at 6 o'clock. Friday the House shall from the War Department and there will be great rejoicing among the colored troopers and the colored troopers and the colored troopers' friends. The name of a troop belonging to Henry's battalion, which distinguished itself in the recent Sioux campaign, is to be submitted to the War Department for detail at Fort Myer, in recognition of gallant services rendered in the field. This is a handsome compliment to the colored troops. It is generally understood among army officers that Col. Guy V. The name of a troop belonging to Henry's battalion, which distinguished itself in the recent Sioux campaign, is to be submitted to the War Department for detail at Fort Myer, in recognition of gallant services rendered in the field. This is a handsome compliment to the colored troops. It is generally understood among army officers that Col. Guy V. Henry will be detailed to command at Fort Myer when the arrival of one of his troops causes the transfer of Col. Carpenter and some of his men. Col. Henry's friends insist that his long and daringly gallant services entitle him to some such consideration.

Mr. McMillin (Tenn.), another minority member of the committee on rules, took the same position. He then inveighed against the orders and let the democrats avail themselves of every moment of discussion to expose to the American people the wrongs which had been perpetrated on them.

Mr. Cannon (III.) said that the House could Wilson have been completed, Senator Gorman. spare two days, but he had yielded to the Sergeant-at-Arms Valentine and Mr. Robert A. eneral desire that the shipping bill should be Parke of the Pennsylvania railroad having general desire that the shipping bill should be considered, and he had acquiesced in the resolution. Mr. Richardson (Tenn)—Why not take the days for the appropriation bills and let the steal go on at night?

Mr. Cannon—Oh! that is so cheap. MR. M'KINLEY'S STATEMENT.

Mr. McKinley denied that the practice of making special orders had originated in this Congress. It had been the practice in every Congress. It had been the practice in every congress since the Forty-sixth, but in former Congresses it had been done in violation of the rules and now it was done under direct authority of the rules.

The majority were responsible for public legislation, and it should be permitted to put its purpose into public law to be tried only before the great tribunal of the American people. [Republican applause.] "You have been tried" and "you have been weighed in the balance and found wanting," were some of the remarks that came in a chorus from the democratic side.

Mr.McKinley—To that tribunal we confidently commit the work of the Fifty-first Congress. Arrangements for the services at Snow Hill are not quite complete, but it is generally understood that the interment will take place before noon on Friday. That will allow the committees to return here the same night. commit the work of the Fifty-first Congress. If gentlemen on the other side imagine that the verdict of last November was based on the public legislation of the Fifty-first Congress, they are very much mistaken and in error. I do not believe that there is a gentleman who has studied the causes that lad to the verdict in November 1 and 1 and studied the causes that led to the verdict in No-vember who can conscientiously declare that t was based on the work of this Congress. "What was it?" queried the democrats. THE BESOLUTION ADOPTED. Mr. McKinley-The majority on this floor having only a few days [derisive laughter on the democratic side], and all of us being here, with our seats well filled, we propose to go on and complete the work of the Fifty-first Con-gress, no matter what obstruction may be put in our way by gentlemen on that side of the chamber. [Republican applause.] The resolution was adopted—yeas 139, nays

The conferees will in all probability agree on a compromise sum for free school books, and will reach some conclusion in regard to assessment and electric light conduits. The Zoological Park reimbursement will undoubtedly have to be voted on in the Houss and possibly the water main amendment. It is rather expected that a conclusion will be reached on the question of meeting the maturing bonds of 1891.

Several clerical changes were made at the Navy

Several clerical changes were made at the Navy Department yesterday. Mr. Thad. K. Sailer, chief clerk of the ordnance bureau, was transferred to duty at the navy yard at a reduced salary, and Mr. Joseph Brummett was appointed in his place. Mr. Edson C. Brace, chief clerk of the bureau of equipment and recruiting, was dismissed. The official explanation of these changes is that they were necessary for the "good of the service."

Gossip AT THE DEPARTMENT.

The gossip in the Navy Department in regard to the removals is that Mr. Sailer's transfer is the result of a long-continued difference of opinion between him and his chief, Commodore Folger, who was not quite satisfied with the methods in vogue in his bureau.

It is understood also that the Secretary had a personal share in this disentisfaction. It is said that the immediate cause for Mr. Brace's removal was that he failed to perform a certain service for which Commodore Dewey, chief of the bureau, had called and which were received that the canal will over the removal was that he failed to perform a certain service for which Commodore Dewey, chief of the bureau, had a called and which were received that the canal will over the removal was that he failed to perform a certain service for which Commodore Dewey, chief of the bureau, had a called and which were received that the canal will over the removal was that he failed to perform a certain service for which Commodore Dewey, chief of the bureau, had a called and which were received that the canal will over the removal was that he failed to proceed with the condemnation of the proceed with the checked for the construction of the property that will be needed for the construction of the property that will be needed for the construction of the property that will be needed for the construction of the property that will be needed for the construction of the property that will be needed for the construction of the road, but it is quite likely that there will be some such action taken at the next will be some such act

erious Damage Caused to Railway Lines

San Francisco, Feb. 25. - Reports received from the different parts of the state show that the storm has abated. Serious damage has been done to railway property, and especially in the southern part of the state. a condition as last year. Much of the new and costly work, which required ten months to complete, has suffered from the storm.

The Santa Anna branch of the track is under water for long stretches, while some parts of the road have been swept entirely away. Between Seven Palms and Yuma over three miles of the rails have disappeared. Nearly two hundred miles of wire are down between Seven Palms and Yuma and nothing definite can be learned of the condition of the track. Pennsylvania depot and at 11 o'clock the special train will leave for Wilmington, Del. Committees of both houses as follows will accompany the remains:
Senate—Senators Gorman, Gray, Jones of Arkansas, Pasco, Faulkner, Spooner, Wilson of Iowa, Mitchell and Dixon. House—Representatives Gibson, McComas, Rusk, Stockbridge, Stump, Mudd, Stone of Mississippi, T. H. B. Brown of Virginia and Abbott of Texas. The party will be in charge of Assistant Sergeantat-Arms Charles B. Reade.

of the condition of the track.

The Sunset route is likely to be inoperative for a week and no tickets to New Orleans will be sold for the present. Washouts have occurred on the Atlantic and Pacific near Barstow, and the sale of tickets over this route via Mojava have been suspended for a week.

The Central Pacific route being in good condition, passengers will be sent east by that line.

There are many rumors and reports of loss of life, but the only cases so far authenticated are the drowning of a man remod Wells. and smoking car, two Pullman sleeping cars and a dining car. The sleepers and dining cars are necessary because hotel accommodations at Snow Hill are insufficient to meet the requirements. From Wilmington the special will proceed to Snow Hill, arriving there about 5 p.m., Snow Hill being, by the shortest possible route, not less than 243 miles from this city.

Arrangements for the services at Snow Hill of life, but the only cases so far authenticated are the drowning of a man named Walls, with his wife and child, near Wilmington. Undoubt-edly great damage was done to orchards and ranches south of Los Angeles, where the floods were the worst in years. Many houses were damaged, live stock drowned and fences and orthuildings destroyed.

HIGH WATER AT CINCINNATI.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 25 .- The Bev. W. R. Covert of Findlay, Ohio, has retained counsel to press the claim to himself and the heirs of Gen. John C. Fremont of the ownership of Bird Island, in the Bay of San Francisco. The amount involved is estimated at over $10,000,000. Gen. Fremont, when military governor of California, purchased the island from Mexico. Uncle Sam purchased the island from Mexico. Uncle Sam repudiated the purchase and declined to either buy from the "Pathfinder" or reimburse him. However, the government some years later took possession of the island, which is the key to San Francisco harbor, and erected fortifica-tions and a lighthouse upon it at a cost of over $9,000,000. Gen. Fremont sought relief from Congress in vain. Some time before he died, being low in funds, he secured financial aid from the Rev. Mr. Covery, giving therefor a half interest in the island. He intended to press his claim, but death interfered. Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont and her son will now join in the proceedings before the Court of Claims.

The conferees on the part of the Spring Hill Junction, N.S., Feb. 25 .- About sixty of the bodies of the victims of the Spring that body, and meanwhile the friends of the bill have been trying their best to get the Speaker to lay the matter before the House, but thus far they have been unsuccessful. The Hill colliery disaster were buried yesterday. A particularly touching case was that of Malcolm Neerau. He returned from Boston only a month ago with his young bride of three months, a Boston girl. He went to work in the mine with his father and brother, and all in the mine with his father and brother, and all were killed. The young widow frantically plead with the searching party to find the body of her husband. In response they made special exertions and recovered the remains.

The bodies were all taken to the Methodist Church, where brief services were held over a dozen at a time, and thence the coffins were described in over a whiches to the court little comments. Since the Maryland court of appeals has affirmed the decision of Chief Judge Alvey granting to the holders of the bonds of 1844 the right to repair and operate the Chesapeake and Ohio canal as a waterway the question has arisen as to what will become of the project represented by the Washington and Cumberland Railroad Company, which has been chartered by the state of Maryland and authorized by the state legislature to lease the canal and operate a railroad on the canal bed.
